DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Umbro.

The device as claimed is disclosed by Umbro with a length of tape 15 having at least one hole 17 along said length, a line 20 attached to the free end of the length of tape and disposed along the length of tape such that at least a portion of the line spans the hole, and a marking medium with a chalk medium attached top the line.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3, 5, 6, 11-13, 26-30, and 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Umbro in view of Lindenau.

The device and method as claimed is disclosed by Umbro as stated in the rejection recited above for claims 1, 2, 4, and 10, but lacks indicia on the tape, a tape reel for holding the tape when not in use, a spring retraction mechanism for the tape to retract the tape when not in use, a tape compartment and a separate line compartment, and with respect to claims 11 and 36 the marking media being ink.

Lindenau teaches a combination tape with indicia and line with chalk both of which are mounted on spring loaded reels and are located in separate housings to separate the chalk from the tape. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include indicia on the tape of Umbro as taught by Lindenau to provide a measuring feature along with the chalking feature of the device. In addition, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tape of Umbro flexible to mount on a spring loaded reel in a housing as taught by Lindenau to better store the tape when not in use and therefore make the device more compact during storage. Furthermore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to house the reel for the line in a separate compartment from the reel for the tape in Umbro as taught by Lindenau to limit the contact between the tape and the chalk.

It is old and well known to use ink as a marking media with line markers. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to replace the chalk of the combination of Umbro and Lindenau with ink as an old and well known marking media alternative in line markers.

5. Claims 7 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Umbro in view of Lindenau as applied to claims 3, 5, 6, 11-13, 26-30, and 34-36 above, and further in view of Blackman.

The device as claimed is disclosed by the combination of Umbro and Lindenau as stated in the rejection recited above for claims 3, 5, 6, 11-13, 26-30, and 34-36, but lack a lock mechanism for the tape.

Blackman teaches using a lock mechanism to fix an extendable tape in place at a desired location during use of the device. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add a lock mechanism to the combination of Umbro and Lindenau as taught by Blackman to hold the tape in a desired extended position during use of the device.

6. Claims 8, 9, 32, and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Umbro in view of Lindenau as applied to claims 3, 5, 6, 11-13, 26-30, and 34-36 above, and further in view of Giffin.

The device as claimed is disclosed by the combination of Umbro and Lindenau as stated in the rejection recited above for claims 3, 5, 6, 11-13, 26-30, and 34-36, but lack a crank handle to retract the line and tape.

Giffin teaches using a crank to retract a line and tape when the user is finished with the device. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add a crank to the combination of Umbro and Lindenau as taught by Giffin to retract the line and tape into the housing when the user is finished using the device.
